FOREWORD

WITH the Southern spirit as proud as the ages, and the knowledge of its worth as lasting as the verdure on Mount Olympus; with joy and friendships as all-embracing as the hospitality of the ancient Greek gods, and valor and beauty equal to legend; with all this is Birmingham-Southern imbued.

To the end that the happenings during the most promising year on Sunshine Slopes—the Olympus of Alabama—remain immortal as the gods who dwelt upon that mystic mountain in a far-away land, we have chosen the old Grecian theme for this, our book of imperishable college day memories.

DEDICATION

SIXTY-NINE years have passed since the doors of what is now Birmingham-Southern were opened to the first class—years in which a variety of vicissitudes beset the institution—years in which the struggle for existence was extremely hard. War and poverty struck an almost overwhelming blow at the very beginning, and poverty lingered. However dark, though, a narrative of the school's struggles, the story of its friends and their efforts toward the realization of an early dream is a record of the shining quality of which we are continually aware. We recognize no degree in their friendship. We single no one for praise or eulogy. There are, and have been many who have subscribed to the greatness that has become Birmingham-Southern's. To these and those, we dedicate this book.

Ecstasy

I tell you that the very hills
Have stood upright today
To wave green banners at the sky
And chant aloud, and pray.

I Have Not Seen

I have not seen a lotus petal
On the Nile,
I have not seen the velvet
Of a princess' robe,
I have not seen the glow
Of foreign fires
Save in your face and hands
And eyes.

AUTUMN MOOD

Twilight

Now is the time when the bright-colored pixies,
Wearied and breathless from frenzy of play,
Flatten to earth in their semblance of leaves,
Dying, as quiet descends on the day—
Descends on the tree-tops, sharp in the darkness,
Cools my wild ardor and shadows the land.
Now is the time when I shrink from the starkness
Of Nature, and rush to my lover's warm hand.

Understanding

Your silent mouth
Can speak more poignantly
Than ever moving lips
Could speak.

Your hands—comforting—
Touch mine with a

You beckon to one
As a far horizon beckons,
You welcome me
As a lake welcomes
The shadow of a pine.

ATHLETICS

FOOT BALL

COACH GILLEM

VARSITY FOOTBALL

COACH ROBINSON

Birmingham-Southern developed a great football machine in 1928. The Panthers last year did not mount dizzy heights of victories, but they performed in 1928 as probably the best football eleven the Hilltop has had in several seasons. Attacking the most difficult schedule they had ever found, the Panthers won three, lost two, and tied four. What may be termed as the lone failure of the year was the inability to break the Howard jinx and beat the Bulldogs in the annual city classic.

Truly it was Southern's greatest campaign on the gridiron. The Panthers tied Centenary, the undefeated eleven of 1927, and one of the outstanding S. I. A. A. teams in 1928. The Panthers defeated Mississippi College, who finished second in the association chase and who was the only loop member to beat Chattanooga. Southern's win over the Choctaws was the first setback for Mississippi College in two years.

Two other feats stand out as high-water marks of the 1928 campaign. Birmingham-Southern held the University of Chattanooga, S. I. A. A. champion, to a score of 12-6, the closest count to which the Moccasins were held in the association with the exception of Mississippi College. The other feat was the Panthers' victory over Auburn, the first in history over the Plainsmen.

There are some other footprints that mark the 1928 Panthers as the best Southern ever claimed, despite their inability to win more than three games. Coach Gillem's gridmen were outplayed only once during the entire campaign. Chattanooga was the lone exception, and twice in that clash the Panthers had the game in their hands, only to flivver at critical moments and permit 'Nooga to take a bare decision.

Another sparkling feature of the 1928 season was the fact that the Panthers placed three players on the composite All-S. I. A. A. selection, picked by coaches from all sections of the association. Billy Smith, quarterback and captain-elect for 1929; Bill Battle, tackle and alternate captain-elect for 1929, and Shorty Ogle, giant end, were the three honored Panthers. Southern placed only John Bartlett on the All-S. I. A. A. team year before last.

And, too, the 1928 Panthers accomplished all these feats in the face of heavy handicaps in the form of continual injuries. First it was Harris Stephens and Chink Lott to be crippled for several games. Then it was Jack Finney to go out again, and then return for another injury. Later Birmingham-Southern lost its captain in John Bartlett for several games, but he managed to slip back into the finale with Howard. Another cripple was Pedro Black, smashing sophomore flankman, who was hurt twice during the season. Other minor injuries were too numerous to mention.

Jenks Gillem celebrated his return as head coach of the Panthers by sending his men into victory over Auburn as the opening shot of the season. Southern trimmed the Plainsmen by 6-0 in a night game at Montgomery. Jack Finney and Norman Pilgreen were the stars of Southern's first win in history over Auburn. The Panthers outplayed their foes by aggressive football all the way.

Southern then opened its home season by defeating Millsaps at Legion Field, 12-0. The Majors came up out of the Delta State with one of their best elevens in history, the Majors having tied Mississippi College and defeated Spring Hill, conqueror of Howard. Billy Smith was the hero of this victory, the 1929 captain-elect galloping thirty-five and forty yards for the two touchdowns. He made both of his pretty sprints in the last half.

It was in the next appearance that the Panthers really thrilled the hometown fandom. The University of Chattanooga came down into Birmingham with a great eleven, but the men of Coach Gillem did not give way under the strain until the last two plays. Chattanooga won, 12-6. The Panthers scored in the third period, after Captain Bartlett blocked a punt, Pilgreen ripping the 'Nooga line to threads with two bucks from the 16-yard line. It was the first time in 1928 that the Gillems had yielded a point.

Then it was that Birmingham-Southern began to ring up a string of draws. First it was Marion at Selma, 7-7; then Mercer University at Macon, 20-20, and Centenary at Birmingham, 0-0. Only a few regulars were taken to the Marion game, while only four regulars finished the Mercer battle. The Panthers were in fairly good trim for the Gentlemen, who were outplayed by the Methodists. Pilgreen, Battle, and Waller starred against Marion. Smith and Lott stood out against Mercer. All the Panthers played brilliantly against Centenary.

Southern's next move was to invade the Delta State and defeat Mississippi College, 19-7. First downs were eight for Southern and two for the Choctaws. The Panthers excelled the Chocs by far in the air, and the Panther line was unbreakable. Smith, Ogle, and Lott were the luminaries. Southern then invaded Mobile and tied Spring Hill, 0-0, upon a sea of mud. Smith, Pilgreen, and Ogle starred in a game that Southern mastered but did not win.

Then came the Marne of football. Howard captured it, 13-12, in as narrow a football game as they ever stage. The Panthers outplayed the Bulldogs everywhere except line bucking. Howard's two touchdowns resulted from Davis' sprint after recovering a fumble and from Bullard's 49-yard dash through tackle. Passes brought Southern to the front several times, air attempts bringing about both Panther touchdowns. A toss, Smith to Ogle, climaxed the opening drive, which was first inaugurated by Smith's 36-yard gallop just before the first half closed. Ogle's catch was the most spectacular ever seen in Legion Field.

Southern's second touchdown came in the final quarter when Billy Smith again broke loose with some accurate passing. He tossed twice to Waller for thirty-three yards, then to Ogle for ten, and climaxed it with another to Lott, who fell across the goal line.

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL

Entering the season with a paucity of material, both in number and in size, Coach Doc Newton and Ben Englebert were faced with the problem of whipping together a combine of sufficient strength to compete with the Rat elevens of Alabama, Chattanooga, Auburn, and Howard.

Opening the season against Auburn the Cubs lost, 25 to 2, on the home grounds of the Infant Tigers. A strong line attack, interspersed with some severe aerial thrusts, caused the downfall of the Hilltoppers.

Next on deck was the Southern Military Academy game, at Greensboro, Alabama. Flashing a consistent line-crashing game, the Southerners won, 6-0.

Following the S. M. A. go, the Kittens returned to their lair on Sunshine Slopes, there to remain for the remainder of the season. One week later they took on the University of Chattanooga Rats in Munger Bowl, losing 13 to 7, even though they almost doubled their opponents in the matter of first downs.

Alabama came to the Slopes two weeks prior to the Howard tilt, and whipped the Cubs, 44 to 13, in a spectacular exhibition of football. An unerring passing attack counted for the greater part of the Crimson touchdowns.

November 9 the Panther Cubs journeyed out to Berry Field to take on the Howard Bullpups in the annual frosh classic of Birmingham, and upset the East Lake eleven, 6-0—the first time a Hilltop Rat aggregation has turned the trick. Which feat, according to tradition, gives them a successful season.

Doc Newton's Cub footballers opened the 1928 season against the Auburn Rats, losing 25 to 2 on the home grounds of the Baby Tigers.

Following the Auburn go, the Cub mentor carried his proteges to Greensboro, Alabama, for a tilt against the Southern Military Academy team. After a hard-fought battle the Hilltoppers won, 6-0.

Returning to their home lair, the Kittens prepared for the Chattanooga freshman aggregation, which combine was met a few days later. The Cubs outplayed their rivals, but lost on the breaks, 13-7.

The University of Alaabma Freshmen were the next opponents of the Cubs. The two teams met on Munger Bowl, and after a spine-tickling exhibition the Crimsons were declared victorious, 44 to 13.

Finally came the Howard Bullpup clash. Playing heroically, the Cubs upset tradition by walloping the East Lakers, 6-0, the first time in the history of the two schools that a Hilltop first-year eleven has turned the trick. So, according to tradition, the season was an eminently successful one for the Cubs.

Class Football

Class football was again placed on the sport calendar in '28, and brought with it unprecedented student interest.

In the first game of the series the Frosh trampled the Seniors by a score of 13 to 6. McNeill scored on a pass on the final play of the game to save the upper classmen from a shutout. Sanders and Moore starred for the winners, while McLendon was a mainstay in the Senior line.

Next on deck was the Junior-Soph clash, which was won by the Sophs, 12-0, the four horsemen of the second-year team proving too strong for the opposition. Griffin, Waller, and Cleveland galloped for long distances to give their fellows a deserved victory.

A spell of bad weather, coupled with an outbreak of influenza, necessitated the calling off of the final game for the championship of the Hilltop.

BASEBALL

Varsity baseball in 1928 reached heights never excelled at Birmingham-Southern. Coach Huntley's edition of diamondeers last season swept down through the final stretch of a torrid campaign to nine consecutive victories and consequently to the S. I. A. A. championship. The Panthers captured twelve contests in fourteen starts during the season, not losing a series and dropping only one game each to Howard College and the University of Indiana.

In registering the marvelous triumphs, the Birmingham-Southern machine spurted out at the finish as one of the best baseball collegiate teams below the Mason and Dixon line, some experts going so far as to say that the Panthers in several departments outclassed the Auburn Tigers, who won the Southern Conference title, to make it two crowns for Alabama in one year.

One game behind in the city college series, and without an S. I. A. A. victory, the Panthers took the field at Munger Bowl just before midseason and walloped the Howard Bulldogs decisively, 12-1. Two more triumphs were scored in rapid succession over the Baptist rivals, and then it was the tour down through Mississippi that shot the Huntleymen into the final drive with a fighting spirit that was never checked.

Coach Huntley was parading around diamonds in the Delta State, where he had performed himself while playing for Millsaps. His Panthers defeated Mississippi College twice in two days and they scored a pair of other victories over Millsaps on the two following days, two of which went into extra innings before reaching a verdict.

Then it was that the Huntleymen returned to Munger Bowl and snapped a twelve-game winning streak of the Centenary Gentlemen. The Louisiana gents of Mike Norton had lost only one game before invading the Magic City, but the pupils of the former Panther went down for two counts before the battling Huntleymen, thereby climaxing a brilliant season for Hilltop Heights with nine successive victories.

The University of Indiana was the first foe on the 1928 schedule. The Hoosiers were defeated easily by Birmingham-Southern in the opener, but the Northern crew trimmed the Panthers in the second contest. Coach Huntley took his Panthers down to Marion for their next appearances, and they snatched a pair of decisions from the Cadets. Returning home, the Huntleymen then played their final mediocre game in dropping a 7-6 decision to Howard before hitting their triumphant stride.

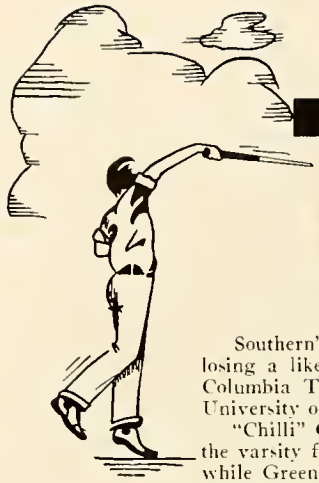

Eight of the twelve victories were registered on diamonds of opposing teams in 1928, six of which were out of Magic City. Coach Huntley's men did not lose a game on the road. Incidentally, Coach Huntley established a feat in road victories that will probably stand for a long time. During his last two seasons, Coach Huntley carried the Panthers into battle twenty times on foreign diamonds, and sixteen of them were triumphs for Southern.

Harold Beagle was the shining light at bat last year, the keystoner finishing with a .509 hitting clip. It was the swatting ability that put so much power in the Panther attack last year, the Huntleymen hitting .328 as a team. Eight of them went above the .300 mark, and two of them were beyond the .400 rate.

It was the brilliant late-season showing of Shorty Ogle that pulled the Panthers into the forefront, the elongated Panther hurling four victories during the final week of the campaign.

Coach Ben Englebert's freshman diamondeers last year failed to beat the Howard College Bullpups in the annual rat series, but the Panther Cubs of 1928 give promise to lend strength to the varsity Panthers this year.

TENNIS

Southern's net artists broke even in the 1928 campaign, winning four contests and losing a like number. They defeated Howard, Sewanee, Mississippi College, and Columbia Theological Seminary, and lost to Alabama twice, Vanderbilt, and the University of Chattanooga.

"Chilli" Greene, Clare Barclift, Herman Aufdehaar, and Byron Gibson composed the varsity four of '28. Barclift performed in the dual role of manager and player, while Greene captained the Hilltop netmen. All four played brilliantly at intervals during the '28 season.

The freshman team, made up of Irving Beiman, Gilbert Miller, John Casey, and John Harbour, lost their only matches of the year to the Alabama freshman team.

One match was played by the Cat netters in the fall of '28, in which Columbia Theological Seminary was beaten, 6-0.

BASKETBALL

VARSITY

In his first campaign of coaching varsity basketball on Hilltop Heights, Ben Englebert started his Panther quintet out on the road to eight rapid victories in the first nine games of 1929. Until this goes to press, Birmingham-Southern's quintet had been defeated only by the University of Chattanooga, a team coached by Harold D. Drew, former Panther mentor.

Leading the Gold and Black cagers on a week's tour through Tennessee and Virginia to start the season, Coach Englebert piloted his quintet to four triumphs and one loss on the extended invasion. Returning home to make their local debut, the Panthers quickly reeled off four more wins in succession. These rapid-fire victories placed the Panthers in a top-notch position to oust the Boys' Club Comets as city champions of Birmingham. Howard had not been met, however, while the B. A. C. Blues also were to be played later.

Southern opened the campaign by beating Tennessee Wesleyan easily, 42-18. Lincoln Memorial was trimmed the next night only after two extra periods of play, when Brand Currie sank the winning basket, 37-35. Then the Methodists clipped off a 39-27 win over Maryville College and a 32-25 victory over Emory and Henry College. It was the following night that Chattanooga momentarily checked the Panthers to the tune of 37-29.

Birmingham-Southern made a successful debut before Magic City fandom by defeating the Y. M. H. A. quintet, 36-29. But it remained for the next game to bring the Panthers into their peak of early-season play, overwhelming the champion Boys' Club Comets by a wide margin, 45-25.

Southern College, of Lakeland, Fla., was the next victim of the Panthers, marking the first S. I. A. A. victory for Coach Englebert's machine. The invading Moccasins were beaten in the last three seconds of play when Pedro Black tossed a short field basket after the big sophomore guard had played a wonderful defensive game all the evening. The score was 33-31.

Then came another thriller. This time it was the Central Y. M. C. A. that fell before a spectacular finish by Birmingham-Southern. The Redbirds had gripped the lead most of the way until the closing minutes, when the Panthers broke loose with a volley of baskets from midcourt to snatch victory from the fire. Southern triumphed by 37-34.

Little Hot O'Brien had been the great scoring star through the first nine games. The midget Dadeville demon often shot 16 and 18 points, even totaling 14 tallies when he had an off night against the Y. M. C.A. But it remained for Pedro Black, powerful soph guard, to display defensive skill. He had been the tower of strength on defense in all of the games. Captain Neipp was having a great spree also.

FRESHMAN BASKETBALL

Starting slowly, but gaining momentum as the season progressed, Birmingham-Southern's freshman basketeers were far off down the 1929 calendar with good success as this goes to press. Doc Newton was coaching the Panther Cubs, who had been coached by Ben Englebert previously.

The frosh opened the campaign in defeat, dropping a 17-7 game to Mortimer Jordan High, winners of the Prep League championship, the district and state prep crowns last year. Smarting under defeat, they came back and captured the next four successive games in the Prep League downtown to tie Simpson for leadership.

Besides beating Warrior and Dora High Schools, the Hilltop yearlings also defeated Howard College's rat quintet in their first meeting of the year, 30-23. Then the Cubs followed this up with a five-point victory over Simpson, 29-34, to knock the Tornado into a deadlock with the youthful Panthers.

Briscoe and Hopping were stars of the early games for Coach Newton's five.

TRACK

The Panther lightly-clads won two of the trio of meets participated in during the season of 1928.

Opening the season against the University of Alabama Crimsons, the Hilltoppers were unable to stem the Tide, being immersed in a flood of points. The score was: Alabama, 65½; Birmingham-Southern, 43½. Hugh Ogle's leap in the pole vault set a new Southern record at eleven feet. Alabama's superiority in the field events accounted for the margin of victory.

Following the Alabama battle, the Panther cindermen journeyed up into the mountains of Middle Tennessee, where they met the Union University team. Drew's proteges displayed an unquestionable superiority, winning 69 to 43. "Shorty" Ogle starred, accumulating 22 points during the afternoon. Included in his total were firsts in the broad jump, pole vault, and discus. "Chink" Lott continued his brilliant sprinting, winning the century and 220 dashes. Bob Sudderth again demonstrated his ability as a quarter-miler by winning the furlong in fifty-four seconds, on an exceedingly soft track. Bailey won the half and mile in leisurely fashion, while the Southern relay team beat the Union quartet decisively.

Last on the Cats intercollegiate menu was the three-cornered meet with Howard and B. A. C. for the cinder championship of Birmingham. Birmingham-Southern won after a strenuous session on the bowl. The final score was: Southern, 58; B. A. C., 39;

Howard, 29. The Bulldogs failed to show a cinder combination that could compete with the Panthers, and were left far in the rear in the pointage.

Sandwiched in between the intercollegiate tilts were two other cinderfests—the inter-frat track meet and the May Day Carnival. Competition was keen in both, and the marks produced in the two meets were excellent. Theta Kappa Nu won the former by a narrow margin, while the Juniors triumphed in the inter-class races by a large margin.

At the conclusion of the season the following men were given letters: Sudderth (captain), Ogle, Bailey, McKinney, Lott, Thompson, Travis, McLendon (manager), and Fullbright.

CROSS-COUNTRY

The cross-country team of '28, captained by Dave Griffin, experienced a fairly successful season. The Cooper Road Race, a dual affair with the Capstone lightly-clads and the Southern Methodist Road Race were the three events participated in by the distance men.

In the Alabama meet the Hilltoppers battled gamely to tie the University harriers, 18-18, while in the Atlanta race the Southern five placed third in a field of seven teams. Griffin and Bailey were the outstanding performers on the squad. This pair, Ralph Henderson, McNeese, and Wallis were awarded letters for the '28 season.

Dave Griffin copped the Cooper Road Race with Wallis and McKain placing second and third.

The Book Store is owned and operated by the college. It assists worthy students in earning money to pay their school expenses, and the profit derived from its operation is used for support of the library.

It is the purpose of the store at all times to serve the student body and to help promote the best interests of the college. Co-operation between the faculty, the students and the Book Store make it possible for the store to render a greater and more satisfactory service.

The personnel of the Bookstore hope that they and the store will always be included in your friendships, your visits and your memories.

New-Comer

Spring slipped in with scented sandals on our town today,
Leaving tender violets to bloom along her way.
All the air is breathless with the hint of new-born things;
Crisp cocoons have broken to the flash of untried wings,
Little peach blooms softly cover all the aged trees,
Young again and supple to caprices of the breeze . . .
First-born love is burgeoning in hearts of youth and maiden.
Spring is in our midst today—dreamy, flower-laden.

THERE · ARE SMILES THAT · MAKE · US · HAPPY

Michael, age 4, and Mike Huntley, diamond star, lead off on this page. Next is Dr. Currie; even as a child it was Greek to him. Prodhy exhibits the evolution in hats, and Eliassen looks very manly in his first long pants. At the bottom is Dr. Alexander as he appeared in the days of his handsome youth. Beside him is a military pair, Whitehouse and Posey.

Well, well, well, look what the whiskers hide—Gilbert Mead flanked by Walter B. Jones and Samuel A. Small as collegians. Gob Spurlin had a girl in every port. On a line with him are Prexy and W. A. Moore. Yoo, hoo! Find Trexy in the bevy of co-eds. With the man from Walla Walla, on the bottom row, are W. T. Hammond and Wilbur Dow as he appeared in his gay teens.

"Red" Moore finds the sun dial a suitable place and Hazel Pierce a fitting subject for his infectious grin. Hubert Searcy really owns the books and uses them. Another of those campus pairs—possibly affairs—Norman Pilgreen and Sadie Bell James. Two long boys get together, Bowden and Ogle, and the other scene pictures students all in a rush to get to chapel—believe it or not.

Candler Lazenby and Elizabeth Logan posed for the picture above. They don't really look that way all the time. Next to Les Waller is shown the long and short of it, Winnie Stokes and "Shorty" Ogle. At the bottom, Strickland tells the boys about Sand Mountain, while the next scene portrays the campas' two capitalists telling each other how to beat the income tax.

The only student who has a drag with Matthews, tap, his wife giving her excuse for not having her lesson prepared. Flanking the Matthews are Dr. Snavely and Dean Mead. In the center, Spurlin as he likes it, while Dr. Whiting poses. At the bottom, Wyatt Hale's Vandyke was caught in profile. Next to him the Poseys do a sun dial act. Henry was snapped by the photographer hurrying some place, faculty meeting, likely.

At the top the gang that gets your nickel before you get the ice cream cone. J. C. Goodwin shows why being contest editor of La Revue isn't such a bad job after all. Verman Kimbrough and Doc Newton got all fixed for their pictures, but Nick Carter took his on the run. The gentlemen with their backs to you are from Sand Mountain. At the bottom, McNeill and Mary Mabry were doing a spot of campusing. At the right, a class in something, none of them knew what.

Looks like the morning after the night before for Mack Travis and Ed Hamill. No frowns, though, from the quartet on the S. A. E. house front steps. Jimmie Westbrook and Jane Hamill give two interpretations of a smile, and Jane won. Below them Coach Lura Coontz seems to be giving the co-ed eleven a little snappy signal drill. Pat said he'd do the mascoting for them, too, in addition to his varsity duties. Mity and Baby said they didn't really think a bird would hop out, but they'd smile anyway.

Ferry Tale From Odeesis Wit De Cyclops

Mrs. Feitlebaum: Yoo! Hoo! Mrs. Yiff Niff!

Mrs. Yiff Niff: Wat iss? Mrs. Feitlebaum?

Mrs. Feitlebaum: Hm! Dun't esk! Sotch tings wot dey tiching mine Isadore to schcol dees days! It's a houtrage wit a shame!

Mrs. Yiff Niff: Hm, iss so?

Mrs. Feitlebaum: Hm, not contempted wit talling cheeldren wot de hencestors was all suspended from monkeys—de ticher talls dem ferry tales from dot beeg liar, Odeesis.

Mrs. Yiff Niff: Oh, diss is who?

Mrs. Feitlebaum: Yas, Odeesis, dot hysterical dope wot got heesself lost on de hocean from tan years. Dem no-good gods got heem meexed opp in all sorts from trobble.

Was dees way—Odeesis stotted in wot he should go home from de beeg war dot he coult see hees wife and leetle bebbe. Gradually dey got lost wit tired, wit hongry, wit thoisty, wot dey that they should die. So they lended on a hiland wot was inhibited from giants. Dey gredually left de wassel wot dey should svipe some grub wit some bennenas, wit some kettle, wit some vatter.

So they snicked in a cave wot they should gat de chizzes wot they smelled After dey itt opp all de chizzes, gredually dere antered a beeg hogre wit oney wan eye in de meedle from hees forrud. They was scared wit treembling wit queevering in the neice.

So Polyphemus set don by de kemp fire to itt opp hees sopper

Mrs. Yiff Niff: Oh! was by the mounster a wife named Polly?

Mrs. Feitlebaum: Whoos spicking from wifes? Polyphemus was de name from de giant So he itt, wit itt, wit itt some more. Hees sopper conseested wit a whole ship, wit seextinn docks, wit fife gotes, wit a will-berrell full from cebbidges, wit a heff from a peeg, wit a whole kag from meelk.

So he sad: "Hm, sotch a skeempy sopper! I should itt someting alse, maybe yat, odder I should bicome pale wit inimic." So he gredually gave a sneer, so he sad:

Fee, Fooy, Fooy, Fum!
I smell the blood from a Human Bing!
Be he alife order be he dat—
I'll make from heem a corn-biff sanawich!!!!"

So all from a sodden he grebbed two from the sheepmen and itt them all opp. Sotch a griddy critchure!

Den Odeesis stotted in wot he should skim a way wot they should gat oud from dere. Gredually he shoppened a holive-brench from a shopp point. Den he gif de Cyclops some wine wit some more wine wit tan buckets from wine. So de giant lay heemself don wot he should go to slip. Den Odeesis wit hees odder men put de holive-brench in de eye from de hogre wot dey should tweest it ontil he was blind. And yi, yi, yi, yi! didn'tdot beeg bebbe yall, wit scrim, wit rur, wit scritch wit pane!?

Dan Odeesis leffed and leffed. So he said: "Hm, soives you right! Itt opp mine kumreds, will you? Ha? Is dis a system?. So gredually came de oily, ruzzy-feengered don.

Odeesis tunk opp a way wot dey should gat oud. Wit rupes he tied hees men onderneath the ship's bodies, wot Polyphemus couldn't know where dey wass. Hm, dot crefty Odeesis! He holt onto de ship's wool from de beegist ram dey hed. Und dey all got out.

Dey ren fast like a strick from lightning to de sheep. Dey yalled like smot-elecks to de giant. So gredually wit a rur from reg, he jomped opp und grebbed de top from a mounting and slung it from Odeesis sheep. But he was a werry poor moxman.

Odeesis weegled his feengers in front from hees nose at de Cyclops—But he chust leffed und leffed—cuz he knew he couldn't see Odeesis!

Mrs. Yiff Niff: Hm, Sotch a silliness haltogadder wot dey tiching in de schools.

Fatigue

Tonight I am weary of many things:
Challenges, chasing dragons, on with the dance.
I shouldn't mind if I were old, tonight,
That I might sit in a garden
Where flowers were—and stars—
Flowers whose chemistry I had forgotten,
Stars whose names I never knew—
Tonight I am weary of many things:
Challenges, chasing dragons, on with the dance.

W.

Revelation

I do not know
What hidden bond
Weaves me to you.
I only know
My Consciousness
Of you is new—
And when you're gone
An empty void,
Weeping for you,
Cries of your absence.

I do not know
Why, when you're here,
I am not glad.
I only know
That if a glance
Can drive me mad—
And pilfered smiles
Can make me sad—
Love, flaming blue,
Offers you incense.

EVENING

Shadows fall, soft and beckoning;
Grey-blue the sky—
Stars slip out, young and questioning.
Wistful am I.
Moonlight is white, mysterious,
Flower-sweet the air.
Trees sway with joy, delirious,
This night is fair.
Voices call low, impressively,
From night, to me . . .
My heart awakes, and restlessly
Blind, gropes to see.

Dull and Void

Dr. Trexler confidentially tells us that after next year he won't have to work for a living. His Ford will be drawing a pension.

John D. Rockefeller may give way new dimes, but Newman Yielding confesses that he is not that kind.

My dear, we simply must get some book ends for our new friction.

We may be dumb, and it has taken a long time, but we are going to our R. F. D. in June.

Open your hearts, wee ones! Don't you think Birmingham-Southern profs are suggestive—always suggesting that we read "Pilgrim's Progress," etc.?

Autumn Mood

TWILIGHT

Now is the time when the bright-colored pixies,
Wearied and breathless from frenzy of play,
Flatten to earth in their semblance of leaves,
Dying, as quiet descends on the day—
Descends on the tree-tops, sharp in the darkness,
Cools my wild ardor and shadows the land.
Now is the time when I shrink from the starkness
Of Nature, and rush to my lover's warm hand.

E. C.

NEGLIGEE

Suppose he should come in
Quite accidentally here,
Would he say, "How charming
I find you, dear . . . "?

This lace is very silky,
This ribbon very fine,
I wonder if he would admire
A figure such as mine?

I've taken tiny stitches,
Oh, what a happy day,
If he should but admire me
In my lovely negligee!

ODE TO THE DYING WEST

West Hall is dying;
The sweet perfume
Of chemicals exhaling.
West Hall is dying;
Her steps collapse,
Her painted pride is paling.
West Hall is dying
Despite her pride
She cannot yet conceal
She cannot hide
The battered halls
Which sag beneath our heels!
West Hall is dying,
Then doff your hat
And, silent, bend your knees . . .
And, if you'd grieve to see her flat,
Oh, kind sir, do not sneeze!

Selves

They say we're selves—
My other self floats up
Above the shelves
And smiling down
Pities poor me,
So sad and lost
In my mortality—
My other self is distant,
Rather vague,
I cannot comprehend
The sage!
And if I could
I'd be quite dead,
I'm sure.
I live instead.

E. C.

Sympathy

I can utter no consoling word—
Only bow my head and hold your hand,
Certain that an answering love has heard
Mine, in anguish, cry, "I understand!"

Contact

The very heavens seem to weep in dull and heavy grief,
They pall upon my window pane, and nothing brings relief:
